My Garden

Author: Shannon David

Illustrator: Kishor Joshi

Translator: Renuka Thapa

My garden has lots of beautiful flowers. It is always full of butterflies. They love the flowers.

Honey bees love the beautiful flowers, too. They buzz happily around my garden every day.

Even big bumblebees love to visit my garden, floating from flower to flower.

My garden has so many flowers that pipits visit it too. A pipit is a kind of small bird that has a medium to long tail.

Look! The jasmine has blossomed. Its little flowers smell sweet. The velvet flower has blossomed too, pretty and purple. The scientific name of the velvet flower is Amaranthus caudatus.

The red leaves of the poinsettia are swirling and their fragrance fills my garden.

The scientific name of the poinsettia is Euphorbia pulcherrima.

This little butterfly visits my garden every day. She is shy, but I know she is my friend.

This little honey bee loves the most colorful flowers. She is shy, but I know she is my friend too.

This big bumblebee buzzes loudly all around. He is not shy at all!

The happy sun shines on my garden all day long, helping the flowers grow.

I like to give flowers to my friends when they go by.

I love my beautiful garden.
What should I grow next?
